
Three convenient kits make it easy to get started with components selected by pros for the pro

The Foba Combitube system consists of a versatile assortment of basic and accessory components that can be combined for a wide variety of applications. To make it easy for you to get started in the Combitube system or to expand an existing outfit, Foba technicians have assembled three basic kits using those parts that have proven especially practical in actual use. Careful thought was given to a sensible balance between maximum utility and affordable cost.

Since the Photokina 2010, a waterproof and resistant COMBITUBE carrier bag is available again (COMBI-Bag). This black bag, manufactured in Switzerland following traditional methods stands out for its manifold possibilities of usage. The various internal compartments and pockets it comprises hold all possible COMBITUBE elements. Even items bigger than the bag, like background paper rolls or TT-Plast sheets rolled up may be taken along for on site shootings. Its immediate success after launching induced FOBA to extend its range: now, the two appreciated COMBITUBE kits CAMIN and CAMID are also available in the carrier bag.
